Weapons are just tools. Believe it.

A weapon is whatever you have in your hand when the bad guy comes after you or somebody you are supposed to be protecting.

The fact that weapons are tools for injuring or killing people doesn't enter into it.

A gun is just a tool.

A knife is just a tool, same as a gun.

Anything can be a weapon. Or a tool, too, depending on how you use it.

If you are scared of your tools, you will be less likely to learn to use them well. You will be more likely to make mistakes.

If you learn how to use your tools, you will be able to control them, and get the results you want when you need to use them.

That is all for now.

Come back when you've learned it.
